FROM THE DIRECTOR'S DESK

Hello,

We hope you and your loved ones are safe and well.

We remember when we were in school, the annual day made everyone nervous irrespective of what our report card looked like. Today, we feel a slight sense of relief with the grip of the pandemic loosening for now. 2020 is a year that will be very hard to forget. It affected individuals and families deeply, it also impacted institutions and industries of all kinds, financial, hospitality, including the not for profit sector.

When the pandemic hit us last year, we were caught completely unaware, just like every other NGO. There was no precedent, no set of SOPs that we could suddenly follow, no plan B that could have prepared us for what was coming ahead. There were challenges – access to children was drastically reduced and parents and educators shared with us about how children were experiencing digital burnout. With children being at home with parents, most families felt that their children would perhaps not be so vulnerable to sexual abuse, hence did not prefer children to spend time online for these programmes. There were challenges with confidentiality for individual sessions and we had to suspend this crucial part of our programme.

We worked through these by re-focusing our outreach towards parents and educators, to empower them to educate children under their care about body safety. We capitalised on our professional skills as mental health professionals to provide counselling services to everyone as we were cognisant of the mental health toll the pandemic had taken on everyone. Some of our partners reached out to us for programmes on mental health management and well-being for their staff or children and we held such programmes for them, to that effect.

While this year was a tough one, it was also one of great learning and a test of our resilience. Your support is what has helped us stay afloat whilst many, many NGOs were forced to wind down and shut shop. There can be vaccines for viruses, but there are no vaccines to prevent child sexual abuse. Therefore, our work will continue to remain relevant and is much needed if we are to try to achieve a world that is safe for children. There were reports of how the lockdown may have caused a spike in sexual abuse, both offline and online. There is much work to be done, we are preparing to serve those who need us the most-children- with schools beginning to slowly open up. We hope you will be joining us in this fight to safeguard children from the evil of sexual abuse and its long lasting, life altering impacts.

DESK

Thank you.

About Rubaroo

Launched in the year 2014 by two passionate individuals, Ishita Manek and Lisha Chheda, Rubaroo has been working with children and adult stakeholders to create awareness on the issue of child sexual abuse and addressing it through our prevention programmes.

Our Twin-Objective

- Empower Children
- Sensitise Adults

Empower Children

Knowledge to deal with unsafe situations

Promote gender sensitivity

Age-appropriate sexuality and reproductive health education

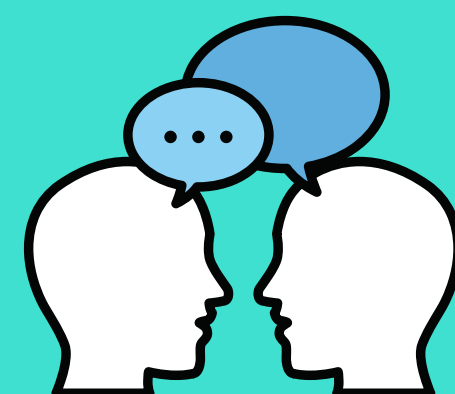

Sensitise Adults

Build Empathy

Recognise signs of distress in children

Appropriately respond to a child's disclosure of unsafe experiences

Vision and Mission

"A child sexual abuse-free society for happier and safer children."

Our Mission: We work to eliminate the evil of child sexual abuse (CSA) by raising awareness about it and inculcating greater gender sensitivity in children and adults, and imparting body safety knowledge and providing healing support to children.

Our Programmes

My Body, My Safety (MBMS) Programme for Children and Youth

Aims at holistic empowerment of children.

Child Sexual Abuse (CSA) Awareness Programme for Adults

Educating and sensitising adults to create a safety net around children.

Teacher Training Programme

The aim is to provide teachers with adequate skills and knowledge to handle concerns related to child sexual abuse more effectively.

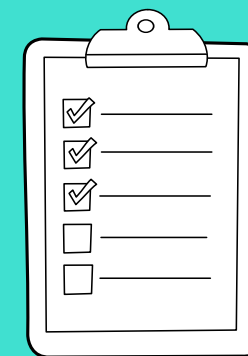

Overall Impact that we aspire to achieve:

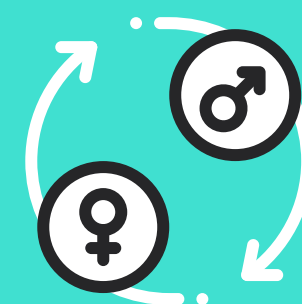

Increased respect for others' body boundaries

Children become change makers (talk about CSA and related topics with peers, family, community, etc.)

Become more vigilant and take appropriate action

Acceptance of others irrespective of their sexuality, gender, etc

Help children identify their trusted adults and ensure that those trusted adults are informed about this

What Makes Us Effective

Elements that we cover in our programme

Along with body safety rules, we also include dialogues on sexuality, gender, reproductive health, consent etc.

Overall programme flow

We believe that child safety is an adult's responsibility. Before the session with children, we mandatarily conduct programme with their parents/caregivers.

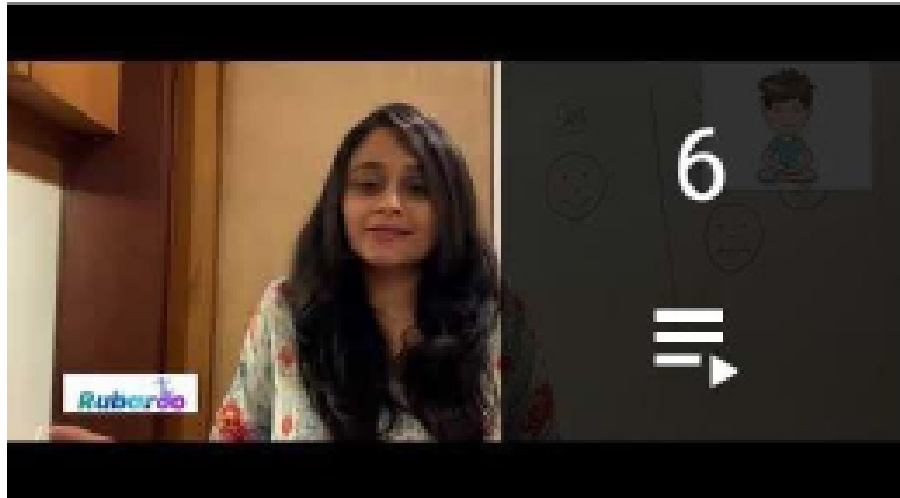

What Makes Us Effective

Individual Sessions

Our team conducts one-on-one sessions with each child to assess if they have understood the curriculum and providing them a safe space to share.

It also provides a list of resources available for child protection.

The course is available on our YouTube Channel "Rubaroo Breaking Silences Foundation".

Leveraging our team of mental health experts, we started offering free online counselling to any individual who sought it.

- Sensitising adults on handling victims of CSA
- Gender sensitivity
- Group therapy sessions
- Sensitisation of judicial personnel
- Customised CSA programmes

254

We did our customised programmes with 254 adults

Outcomes

To measure the outcomes of our CSA programmes, we conduct a baseline and endline survey with our participants.

These surveys contain simple yes and no answer-type questions that help us gauge the knowledge levels of the attendees before and after our session. The shift in knowledge is the outcome.

For each of our programmes, we have various broad indicators. We measure these indicators with the help of the responses we get on our baseline and endline survey.

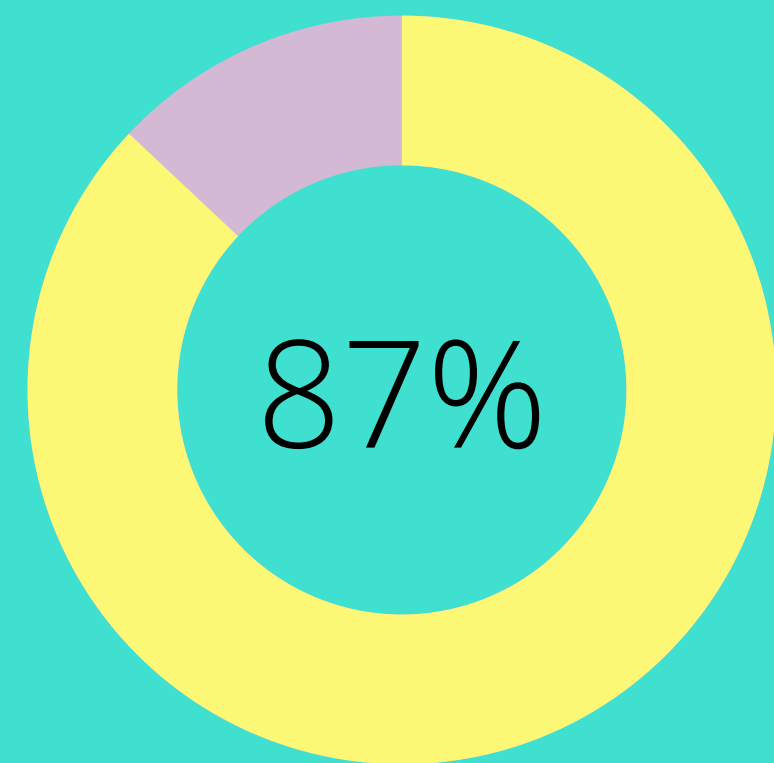

*: Not all programme participants completed the post-test, due to the challenges of administering the test and the programmes online. While we have compared the % of adequate and appropriate responses in the pre test and the post test, the data may suffer from statistical deficiencies, because of the discrepancies in the number of respondents.

Testimonials

"I attended the training session that was conducted by Lisha Chheda, and as a teacher or a facilitator I personally feel the session touched upon every aspect needed to engage our children better. I have implemented an array of tips and pointers that were shared by Lisha. One of the most effective tips was to be vulnerable to the children. This small technique encouraged everyone else to open up and share as well. Apart from that, using tools such as acknowledging their responses, maintaining eye contact, asking open ended questions and encouraging them to use feeling words. All this combined has increased engagement and overall created a safe space for children to learn more and share freely."

I feel help, benevolence and charity is not just in terms of money and security but also for our mental well being and emotional well being and Rubaroo is doing a wonderful job."

- Deepa Sobti

"Being the mother of a 7 year old myself, I know how important it is for every child to have a safe and nurturing childhood. I feel privileged to support Rubaroo in their noble cause of trying to make our society a safer and happier place for children. It does an amazing job in not only educating the children and youth but the parents too on imparting knowledge and skills to be safe from sexual abuse."

Testimonials

“The one thing that I'm definitely taking back from Lisha's session is "to listen". Not only has the focus on empathy and non-verbal cues helped me engage my girls better, but has also made them feel heard. We had a breakthrough last week where we sat down to have a conversation like adults, realizing we've not only established trust and rapport but also created a safe space.

The girls said they didn't want to attend class anymore because they were swamped with classes and work, and we used Socratic style of questioning combined with several other aspects of active listening, and reached a middle ground. We made class non-mandatory, and extremely focused on the girls. We realized we made them feel so heard that 10 of the 16 of them said they want to come in and talk.

Not only have we managed to reach our ultimate goal of SEL and creating a safe space for them to be able to communicate with us so freely, but we've also realized that outcomes do not always come in packages that we expect them to come in. Outcomes can be attained in absolutely different and unexpected ways.

Empathy and feeling words can go a long way!”
